

REFORMATORY SENTENCE FOR ROBERT CLEVELAND

Prisoner Charged With First Degree Murder Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter

BENCH STATEMENT OF JUDGE DEVOR OF ASHLAND

Who Believes That a Penitentiary Sentence Was Not Justifiable Nor Conducive to the Best Interests of Justice---Bolton Trial Set for Wednesday March 29.

Throwing aside all restraint, dismissing precedents, with their mere mention, as far as they were binding upon him, Judge W. T. Devor of Ashland in Common Pleas Court this morning, accepted a plea of guilty of manslaughter, entered by Jones and Jones, attorneys for Robert Cleveland, indicted and brought to trial for murder in the first degree, and gave the defendant an indeterminate sentence to the Mansfield reformatory.

Judge Devor in passing sentence made a number of observations, which to most minds throw the right perspective upon the events leading up to the lynching of Carl Etherington, and the connection had with it of the defendant Cleveland in particular, but of most of the men indicted in general. In these observations he called attention to the fact that the best of us when under the stress of great excitement do things which in our calmer moments we would not do, and especially is this true of an immature or undeveloped mentality.

He also laid stress upon what the law intended in dealing with one convicted, or pleading guilty to a crime, and that was the reclaiming of the good in a man's nature, so that after suffering adequate discipline for his transgressions, he could again take his proper place in society that was intended. As an instance he cited the cases of the great law giver Moses, who in younger life had committed murder, and of the Apostle Paul, who under the stress of excitement had aided and abetted a mob in taking the life of one whose teachings were opposed to their own firmly rooted beliefs. Yet both of these men afterward became useful citizens, and lent their great abilities to noble undertakings and the betterment of the entire human race.

There was in the tone of Judge Devor's voice, almost a question why the same principle should not apply in dealing with this and other defendants in these cases. In calmness and with decision, showing that every syllable of his deliverance had been carefully considered with a view to justice to the community at large, and not alone that part which has clamored for the enforcement of the vindictive idea of "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," he stated that a term of even ten years in the penitentiary destroyed a man's life and all that might be good in him. That in the present case he did not think that justice demanded any term at all in this institution.

Judge Devor's judgment was delivered without notes, in a slow, impressive and decided manner and not a sound was heard in the court room except the solemn rendering of the court's dictum.

The sentence was received in silence, but after adjournment the almost unanimous expression of opinion was that Judge Devor in his sentence had not only vindicated an outraged law, but had shown attributes likest God's by allowing mercy to temper justice. The court's judgment follows in full:

JUDGE DEVOR'S STATEMENT
I do not know that I can say anything that will enlighten this defendant, or the people present in the court room to hear the sentence passed upon this young man, but I know, and I believe that all the people in this court room believe, that this crime that occurred here in Newark in July, 1910, is to be deplored, and that all right-thinking people abhor and despise any such conduct as that. I do not doubt a bit but what this defendant, who has entered a plea here of guilty of manslaughter, is, in the strict letter of the law, guilty of murder in the first degree. I do not doubt it a bit. The law, however, is a cold proposition, and courts are instituted in society to reason and to apply the law in a reasonable manner. We are all human, and were all liable to err and to make mistakes. There is said not to be a perfect man, except one who is mentioned in Holy Writ. Now, that same book tells us that the greatest law-giver, Moses, was, in a sense, a murderer; and that same book also tells us that St. Paul, when a young man, was an aider and abettor in a murder; yet, he afterwards became a great man, as also did Moses.

This young man, as has been stated, has not the highest degree of wisdom, knowledge and reason. A great many of us in excited moments would do things that we would not do upon more quiet occasions.
The Court is bound to take into consideration all these facts in passing sentence. As to manslaughter, the law provides that the court may sentence from one to twenty years in the Ohio Penitentiary. We have had the opinions of two judges who tried cases to the jury in this same transaction, (Continued on page 3, col. 1.)

LEWIS BOLTON NEXT ON TRIAL

Prosecutor Smythe Thursday afternoon told Judge Devor that he had asked for a conference of attorneys for men confined in the county jail, charged with murder, so that by a conference an agreement might be reached as to the order of trial, but after consideration, he had decided that probably each attorney would want his client tried first, and had therefore decided to select Lewis Bolton to be tried on March 29, and asked that a venire for a jury issue for that date, and this order was accordingly made.

CLEVELAND'S LIFE A HARD STRUGGLE.

Robert Cleveland, the young man who was put on trial this morning for the crime of murder in the first degree, has not been favored by the best conditions that can surround a boy when he is growing into youth and manhood, and his early life was a hard struggle against circumstances.

His father died when he was a mere babe, and soon after that his mother married James Cleveland, who died several years ago, so that Robert never knew his own father.

The boy went to school for some years, but quit at an early age, and, like many others, went to work in the glass factory in North Newark, and the rest of his life has been spent in work in and about glass factories, at one time beginning to serve an apprenticeship as a bottle blower. He has also worked at the Heisey plant, in Utica, and the winter of 1909-10 he spent in Canada. Cleveland was born in Newark, June 14, 1884, so that he will be 27 years old next summer. Since the death of his stepfather he had made his home with his widowed mother at 54 Clinton street, and was doing so last July, although working in Utica, coming to Newark every Saturday night.

It was in Utica that he was arrested July 21, 1910, and held in the city prison for 21 days, when he was transferred to the county jail for participation in the Etherington lynching. The special grand jury of last summer returned an indictment against him for first degree murder, being made a co-defendant with a number of others. The last grand jury returned another indictment for the same crime against him separately as they did against 17 other men.

The young man has been known for years as "Bloody Murder" Cleveland, and under the circumstances it is but just to explain how he came by such an unsavory sobriquet. He told a reporter that this nickname came to him when a mere boy and has stuck to him until the present time. While yet a schoolboy he was going home from school one evening, when his companions, as a prank, succeeded in locking him in a coal house.

All his efforts to release himself failed and he was seized with a panic of fear as darkness came on, and in order to attract attention and get released, he began yelling at the top of his voice, "Murder! Murder!" and his companions, in telling about his actions while imprisoned, of course, told that he yelled "bloody murder," and after this he was called by that name.

Cleveland was defended by J. Howard Jones and Rodger Jones in his present trial.

CHILD DRINKS POISON DEATH SOON RESULTING

Word was received here Thursday that Charlie, the little five-year-old son of Mr. Charles Miller, a well known man living near Luray, had died very suddenly shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday morning. It seems the child had got hold of a bottle containing poison, and that he swallowed a considerable portion of its contents, death resulting soon after.

The funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. T. F. Madden and the interment will be made in the cemetery at Kirkersville.

Passes Initiative and Referendum Measure

RECOMMEND YOUNT BILL

Committee Declined to Fix Date for Public Hearing

Senate Passed Health Bill Re- lating to Marriage Applicants

Columbus, March 9.—Practically without opposition the house of representatives passed the Crosser bill providing for the initiative and referendum for all municipalities of the state. This provides that upon a petition of 8 per cent of the voters the council must adopt an ordinance prayed for, and that upon a petition of 15 per cent and question must be submitted to a special election. No franchise may be granted without this proviso.

The opposition exhausted itself upon amendments, all of which were voted down by the house.

Jury Trials in Liquor Cases.
After hearing Superintendent Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon League, Mayor R. G. Allen of Washington, C. H., and Prosecutor Johnson of Gallia county, the senate committee on temperance recommended Senator Yount's bill to take from mayors final jurisdiction in liquor violation cases. Yount spoke for his bill.

The committee declined to fix a date for another public hearing, Senator Dean remarking that "scenes on the senate floor don't do any good." In advocating the bill Yount denied that it was wanted by bootleggers and declared it was the abuse of authority by mayors elected for the sole purpose of getting convictions that made the bill necessary.

He cited the case of West Milton in Miami county, where council gave the informants half the fines which resulted in cases being brought for miles, until Attorney General Denman broke up the practice.

Mayor Allen having remarked they had no violations in his bailiwick, Yount took him off his feet with this: "I bet I can go down into your town and get anything I want to drink, and I would do it just to prove it to you if I was not afraid of getting arrested." He said Greenville had three times as many bootleggers as it ever had saloons.

"If you pass this bill you won't be able to get a conviction in a single case," said Mayor Allen, who declared the accused would go up to common pleas courts, whose dockets are already crowded.

"You might as well repeal the Rose law as to pass the bill," said Prosecutor Johnson. He added the jury system was admitted generally not to be good.

Marriage License Regulation.

After it had been amended so that the family physician of the bridegroom may make the examination and certify his finding to the probate court, the McDonald bill, providing physical examination for male applicants for marriage licenses, was passed in the senate. This bill is designed to prevent the marriage of any person afflicted with infectious.

PREACHER GETS PEN SENTENCE

Akron, March 9.—Rev. R. H. Moss, a Methodist minister, formerly of Parkersburg, W. Va., was sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary for pocket picking. He was charged with robbing O. S. Davis, a real estate man, who Davis was under the influence of liquor. Moss made an appeal for mercy, but the court did not heed his request.

FOUND WIFE'S BODY IN WELL

McConnellsville, O., March 9.—Mrs. Jennie Wilson, 40, dependent over-continued ill health, plunged into a thirty foot well at the home farm near Stockport, Wednesday. The house dog, barking at the well, first gave the alarm. About the same time Robert, aged 4, went to the stable where his father was working. Why don't you stay at the house with mama," the father inquired. "Mama ain't there," replied the child. A search was made and attention was called to the open well. A grappling hook was procured and lowered into the well and body was soon hooked and brought to the surface. The body was at the bottom of the well.

EXPECT SEVERAL MORE CONFESSIONS

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 9.—Following the sensational story of Milton Oliver on the stand yesterday, the prosecution announced that several more confessions were expected. A great change in the public's attitude, since the last trial is noted here. Farmers in town openly discuss the case and all fear of the night riders organization seems to have departed.

COSHOCOTON COUPLE LOCATED IN MARIETTA

Coshocoton, Ohio, March 9.—Charles Bohamus, who some days ago disappeared from this city simultaneously with two prominent young women, Misses Buelah Cornell and Eva Morrow, was located with Miss Cornell at Marietta, and the whereabouts of Miss Morrow are said to be known. He was arrested and held in Marietta on the technical charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, but will be brought back to Coshocoton for trial on another accusation.

HOTEL GUESTS HAVE A SCARE

Cincinnati, March 9.—Two persons were injured and several women and children rescued with difficulty during a fire early today. The four story plant of the Murdock Manufacturing company was practically destroyed with a $75,000 loss and 300 guests of nearby hotels were thrown into a near panic. Several explosions during the fire added to the excitement. The cause of the blaze is a mystery.

COMPTROLLER ISSUES CALL.

Washington, March 9.—The comptroller of the currency today called for statements of the condition of all national banks at the close of business March 7, 1911.

CANAL OPENING

Will Reduce Freight Rates From $5 to $10 Per Ton Is Claim of Orator at Commercial Congress.

Atlanta, Ga., March 9.—The operation of the Panama canal will reduce freight rates in Atlantic and Pacific coast cities from $5 to $10 a ton according to Mr. Baker, who addressed the Southern Commercial Congress today. He says with boats of ordinary speed 12 days will be ample time between New York and San Francisco, while at present it averages 21 days. Baker says South American trade is all that is now left to America, because Japan has a monopoly of Pacific coast trading. He claims Japan beats us to important commercial victories while we haggle over the policies and politics involved.

May Be Able to Throw Light on the Rice Murder Mystery at Cleveland.

Cleveland, March 9.—Vinsenzo Pelato, believed by county officials to be able to throw light on the murder of William L. Rice, the millionaire lawyer, and brought here last night from Black Diamond, Cal., was arraigned in the criminal court for alleged complicity in a robbery at the home of Mrs. Anna Pavoda at Blue-stone, near here. Trial was set for Friday.

Mrs. Pavoda's chicken coop was raided the night of Aug. 5, 1910. An hour later Rice was shot down. A sack of chickens was found near the spot, and detectives believe Rice was killed while interfering with the thieves.

WHAT IS IT?

MOBILIZING ARMY ONE OF INVASION

Such is Opinion of the Highest Military Authorities in Statements Issued Today

U. S. STANDS READY TO TAKE CONTROL OF MEXICO

If Diaz Death Should Occur War Department Could Have Orders for Invasion in Hands of Command- ers in Few Moments---Adjutant Weybrecht Calls Out Ohio Regiment.

Washington, March 9.—The army mobilizing at San Antonio was today declared by the highest military authorities to be an army of conquest or invasion.

Every detail has been arranged for an indefinite campaign. All arrangements have been made for crossing the Rio Grande, even in the event of the destruction of the permanent bridges.

Carefully drafted maps of the roads of Mexico have been prepared for Major General Carter.

Four fully equipped hospital companies are on their way to the front. The detachments of engineers ready to construct pontoon bridges is prepared for long field duty.

The signal corps has been ordered out in its entirety. Whatever the cause of the mobilization the fact is undeniable and apparently undeniable today that the United States stands ready at a moment's notice to take control of Mexico.

If the news of the death of President Diaz should be flashed over the wires today, the war department within a few moments could have orders for invasion in the hands of the commanders of the troops.

That the Mexican government, despite its denials and formal statements of assurance, is in a state of almost distracted fear of impending developments, was indicated today in official circles here. Formal denial that Diaz was dead was sent out by Ambassador de la Barra to all Mexican consuls and officials in America and similar messages were distributed throughout Europe. But it was a significant fact that a call was issued to "all loyal Mexicans" to return to Mexico.

The rumor that President Diaz of Mexico is dead spread swiftly through official Washington today and in the absence of confirmation was given much credence on the ground that the dictator is more than 50 years old, and because his demise offers the only complete explanation yet suggested for the great mobilization of U. S. troops at the Mexican frontier.

It is known as a positive fact that Diaz' death would be kept an absolute secret as long as possible and that official denials could be forthcoming as long as there was chance of further concealment. For this reason the absence of official information and a formal denial at the Mexican embassy here early today did not affect the general belief that the rumor might have some foundation.

Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the revolutionary organization here, received messages yesterday containing the report that Diaz was on his death bed. The revolutionists declare that Diaz has been near the end during the past week. At the Mexican embassy it was asserted that the rumor of Diaz' death was the product of the revolutionists.

"It is an old trick of the anti-Diaz party," said an attaché. "Whenever they think it is opportune they start the report that the president is dead. They circulated the report throughout Mexico last summer. President Diaz is an aged man, but he is in vigorous health."
The embassy did not attempt to explain the reported cutting off of all press dispatches from Mexico City last night.

All officials here who are familiar with the situation agree that if Diaz is dead no man now exists in Mexico capable of holding the government together. Limantour and the other leaders now in ascendancy are civilians and not army men. No man can control Mexico unless he can control the army, it is declared. General Reyes, who is in Paris, and who is the idol of the army, is declared by many to be the only living man who could master the situation.

The fact that President Taft addressed a reassuring message to Diaz last evening was not taken as a proof that Taft had evidence that Diaz was alive. He addressed Diaz merely as the head of the Mexican government.
The rumor of Diaz' death has spread the belief that the news of his illness was received here Monday evening and that it was the cause of the swift, unprecedented orders for mobilization at San Antonio of the largest body of U. S. soldiers ever assembled at one place since the civil war.
If Diaz is dead, or should die, the U. S. government will be compelled either to assume a protectorate or to take actual control of the country. The state department officials who have dreamed of the U. S. flag flying all the way southward to the canal renewed the vague prophecies, but there was little belief here that the U. S. will attempt more than to restore order and compel the establishment of a definite form of government.
CRUISERS WILL CLEAR FOR GUANTANAMO FRIDAY.
New York, March 9.—The big cruisers Tennessee, North Carolina and Montana expect to clear for Guantanamo at daybreak tomorrow.
That the navy department anticipates more of a fight than a frolic was shown by the placing on board today of nearly 5000 rifles of the new Springfield type, used by the army, and the same number of the recently adopted type of navy revolver, which also uses the same ammunition as do the weapons of the army. More than 40,000 rounds of ammunition accompanied the shipment and the officers on the big war craft, although under orders not to talk, had hard-work concealing their surprise, as it had been understood these rifles and revolvers would not be available for naval use until midsummer. Because the weapons use the regular army type of ammunition, there was a general belief that the marines and sailors of the cruisers may yet be doing duty shoulder to shoulder with the regular troops now in Texas.
The warships are coaled, ammunitioned and their magazines are full, but they will be held here through today to permit all members of the crew and officers now on furlough to join.
OHIO REGIMENT GOES.
Marietta, March 9.—Company B, Seventh regiment of the Ohio National Guard, was ordered to assemble at once and to be ready to move immediately to the south.
WEYBRECHT ORDERS OUT PORTSMOUTH.
Portsmouth, March 9.—Orders signed by Adjutant General Weybrecht were received here by the officers in charge of the local company of the militia to assemble the meeting at once. The local company is K of (Continued on page 3, col. 3.)

LECTURE COURSE CLOSED LAST NIGHT FOR THE SEASON

George R. Stuart, Noted Southern Orator and Preacher, Packed High School Auditorium.

Last night, George R. Stuart, the great southern orator and preacher of national fame, closed the Newark High School Lecture Course for this season with his lecture, "Is Fun Divine or Devilish?" The High School Auditorium was filled to overflowing and many people stood throughout the hour and a half of the lecture. Dyspeptics should have been there, for the lecture prescribed the healing potion of mirth for their ills, and administered it in huge doses. Cross old maids should have been there, for they would have straightway forgotten their crossness. Stalling mothers and growling fathers should have been there, for they would have learned that God meant home to be a citadel of joy, bulwarked out of the laughter of children's happy hours and parents' love.

George R. Stuart as a lecturer is rather unique. He talks straight from the shoulder and calls black, black; and white, white. In some respects he resembles his late colleague and co-worker, Sam P. Jones. His stories are always to the point; his humor is inimitable. His philosophy of life is beautiful, and it is as scientific as it is beautiful. He holds that fun is divine and not devilish; that there is more religion in a good hearty laugh caused by unadulterated fun than there is in weeping; that laughter is a safety valve that protects the physical, mental and moral man; and that today the religion of our churches needs to shake off the somber and laugh-killing relics of Paganism that still cling to it. It is his to reach and save the young people of our land.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

The report of the financial secretary of the Newark High School Lecture Course for the season 1910-1911, shows that the receipts from the sale of tickets and other sources amounted to $155.25, while the disbursements were the same, consisting of $75.90 for commissions paid pupils; 15 cents to over-charged reservation and $1475.10 to T. O. Williams, treasurer. The net proceeds from the course amounted to $122.56, divided as follows: To the fund, $212.75; to library fund, $52.10; to stereopticon fund, $55.50; to balance on hand, $26.12.

For the season of 1911-1912, it is proposed to have a ten number schedule of the Newark High School Lecture and Entertainment course, consisting of four lectures, four musicals and two entertainers.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

One of the most forceful things announcing spring as being duly on hand is the array of summer "bonnets" in the display windows of the millinery parlors of the city. The small hat of the late winter season is done in straw now, but where a soft and pliable felt did much to do away with the ungraceful lines of the little headgear, the copies in straw now look clumsy and unappealing. However, the really correct thing for the early spring wear seems to tend toward the wide rolling brim sailor.

Of this style a pretty model was seen in one of the city's millinery parlors today. It was a strictly tailored hat and from one of the very correct eastern hat firms. The wide brim rolls slightly from the face and is faced with black velvet. The top of the hat is made of black shepherd's plaid silk. The only trimming is a pleating of one row of a pretty color of green velvet ribbon, about an inch and a half in width. This pleating is placed around the crown and from underneath comes a row of white silk fringe about two inches wide. This fringe is brought up on the right side of the hat to form a draped ornament.

The bit of green on the hat gives a new touch and seems to carry out an idea that is to be general this spring of the combination of colors at which we would shudder a few years back. A striking example of this is seen in a hat in a Newark shop of a queer shade of blue with a high crown and the only adornment is a half wreath of blue and pink forget-me-nots with stiff little bow of blue satin, topped over with a smaller bow of cerise satin. This little cerise bow gives life to a hat that probably would not be noticed otherwise.

On last Friday Mrs. M. T. Porter of near Grant gave a sewing bee and dinner party to a number of her friends and neighbors. An elaborate six course dinner was served, the table being tastefully decorated in green and white. The day was greatly enjoyed by all.

Those present were: Mesdames Clem Loughman, John Be-sette, J. De Vore, J. S. Practical Housekeeping.
Skilled Workers for the Home.

Now that "What's the Matter with Housekeeping?" is becoming one of the questions of the day, and minds of many kinds are endeavoring to answer it, and at the same time suggest methods of betterment, there is hope that housekeeping will soon become the businesslike and enjoyable profession it ought to be for women.

One solution of some of its problems is being offered by a clever and enterprising Western woman. She has been studying the changing conditions in the home for several years. She has seen that the reins of housekeeping are now being taken up by women coming from business and who have little knowledge of housekeeping, and in many cases, little inclination for it. She has noted that the old order of housekeepers, trained in the home for its work, is passing away. She has thought upon the incompetent help that joins forces with the inexperienced housekeeper. She has seen the disastrous results of all these conditions. And she has come forward with a remedy.

She has surrounded herself with a staff of helpers ranging from the skilled interior decorator to the responsible woman who will come each day for any number of hours wished and put the house in order. If pictures are to be hung, or sofa cushions covered, or draperies chosen, and the mistress of the home feels she has not the taste or the experience to get the most artistic results, or the best value for her money, skilled people are at her service. If she wants her housecleaning done without any care or worry on her part, responsible people are at her command to take the work in charge. If it is the weekly sweeping and dusting and window washing, she wishes to turn over to some one else, a corps of skilled workers are likewise at her service.

And the workers in this new business venture are not the incompetent, drifting class. They are responsible women of good judgment trained for the work; women who do this work because it is their preference and who will do it under this plan because it is put on a business basis and its dignity recognized.

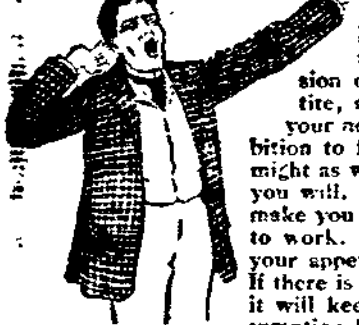

In addition this woman has a training school for those who wish to go into the home as regular workers by the week. And for this work, the same dignified, businesslike standards are set.

It is an admirable conception and admirably carried out. She is doing what has needed doing for so long—putting housework on a business basis, giving it a standing equal to that of other gainful occupations for women. In her hands it is businesslike, dignified, respected. And thus regarded, the right sort of workers come into it.

There is no reason why the housekeepers of every town should not have some such organization to call upon to help them in their household work. In every town are women capable of managing such a business. If the housekeepers would support it, they would be relieved of many of their housekeeping worries.

Boiled Rice. Wash the grains carefully and gently in several waters. When the rice is thoroughly clean, scatter it gradually into a saucepan three parts full of boiling water. The water should only be slightly salted. Allow the rice to boil quickly from twelve to fifteen minutes, then strain it through a colander. Return the rice to the empty saucepan, steam it for twenty minutes. The rice may be well shaken and placed in an open oven until all moisture is evaporated.

Fruit Pop Overs. Pop overs for dessert are made in the same way as those for breakfast—one pint of flour, three eggs, two cupfuls of milk and a half teaspoonful of salt. Slightly beat the eggs, add the milk and stir gradually into the mixed flour and salt. Beat only just enough to make a smooth batter and strain into greased cups or deep muffin pans until each is nearly filled. Have the oven very moderate and allow them from forty-five to fifty minutes for baking; when the oven is too hot they rise rapidly and are sure to fall. When taken from the oven open one side of each carefully, put in a spoonful of jam or preserves and serve with a creamy sauce.

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of its souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Weyb's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Weyb Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by F. D. Hall, druggist.

MOBILIZING ARMY

The Seventh regiment and they will be sent south.

CAPT. PRIEST OF COMPANY G. ASKS SERVICE

Government May Send Officers of the National Guard to Participate in Operations.

Press dispatches state that the Fourth regiment of the Ohio National Guard may be sent to the Mexican border.

An Advocate representative called on Captain Verne Priest of Co. G this city and asked him if he had received any orders from Adjutant General Weybrecht and was told that none had been received. Captain Priest stated that he had made application to be sent to the seat of trouble and thinks that many Ohio officers will be given the opportunity to witness the army maneuvers.

A dispatch from Washington Thursday morning stated that militia officers of all the states of the Union will be invited to participate in the operations of the army at San Antonio, Texas. The announcement was made by the war department last night and was coupled with the statement that the invitation will be extended with a view to giving the officers of the National Guard practical field experience. There are about 8,000 of these officers, but as the acceptance of the invitation to them is to be optional, it cannot be foretold how many will avail themselves of the opportunity to participate in the military activity.

The announcement in regard to the military officers gave rise to further speculation in Washington in connection with the unprecedented movement of troops in time of peace. The known dearth of officers in the army and the fact that the war department has been knocking at the doors of Congress for additional officers gave ground for the conjecture that the real purpose of the invitation to the officers of the militia is to use them to command regular troops.

The need of the army for more officers for command positions lent considerable color to this version of the advent of the militia into the puzzling situation. Congress at its last session passed a bill authorizing 230 additional officers for the army.

The war department is now making arrangements to examine officers for promotion under this law, in order to acquire the additional commanders of troops urgently needed. Even with this number it is said the quota of officers will fall short of the necessary official personnel for the army under its present organization.

WEYBRECHT TELEGRAPHS

B. & O. to Get Ready to Move a Portion of Ohio Guard to Mexican Border.

Cincinnati, March 9.—The passenger department of the B. & O. S. V. railroad, this city, yesterday received a telegram from Adjutant General C. C. Weybrecht, telling that road to get ready to move a portion of the Ohio National Guard to the Mexican border in conjunction with the Illinois Central. Tentative arrangements were made to have 32 cars available for the troop movement.

While the railroad company did not know which regiments would be detailed, it was reported last night that the Fourth and Seventh regiments of infantry and Battery C of Columbus, would be sent through this city in the event that the Ohio National Guard is called into service.

a good citizen, and learn some useful trade. It is the judgment and sentence of the court that this defendant be taken to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield, without any fixed or definite term of sentence; and I hope, Robert Cleveland, that you have learned a lesson from this, and that you will try, when you are in this institution, to obey its rules and learn to be an honest, upright citizen.

The fourth first degree murder trial in connection with the Etherington lynching, July 8, 1910, was called at 9 o'clock Thursday morning in common pleas court, with Judge W. T. Devor of Ashland presiding.

The defendant, Robert Cleveland, was early present, and before court opened for about 15 minutes was in earnest conversation with his counsel, J. Howard Jones and Roderic Jones, while Prosecutor Smythe and Attorneys W. H. Miller and Seth L. McMillen were at the table reserved for counsel for the state.

Deputy Clerk Hursey was ordered to call the name of the 36 talesmen summoned for examination as to their qualifications to act as jurors, but only 21 answered upon the first call. Two had not reported on account of illness and had filed physicians' certificates as to their inability to be present.

Judge Devor instructed the clerk to notify the sheriff of these absences, with instructions to bring them into court, and at the same time remarked that he couldn't understand why they had not reported, as they had been served in plenty of time.

At 10 o'clock Roderic Jones asked the court to excuse the talesmen who were present from the room while he made some statements to the court.

He offered to enter a plea of guilty to manslaughter if satisfactory to the state, in behalf of the defendant. Prosecutor Smythe and Mr. Miller went into a conference on the matter, after which Mr. Smythe said:

"While this defendant is charged with murder in the first degree and the state believed at the time it was found that he was technically guilty of that grade of crime, and thinks so now, the state also realizes that he was not guilty of taking the life of Etherington with his own hands. Also that two juries in former cases have decided that from such evidence the defendants in those cases were guilty of manslaughter. I think, however, that the state should accept this plea of manslaughter. I think, however, that the state should accept this plea of manslaughter and will do so and ask that the indictments as far as murder in the first and second degrees be nulled."

The court acted upon this suggestion and accepted the plea as entered by the defendant and made an entry to that effect.

Cleveland was ordered to stand up and Judge Devor asked him if he had anything to say why sentence of the court should not be passed upon him.

He replied that it was now in the hands of the court and sat down. The judge then asked his counsel if they wanted to make any statement for him and Mr. Roderic Jones addressed the court substantially as follows:

"We, as counsel for the defendant, have advised him to plead guilty to manslaughter with a grave appreciation of responsibility. We apprehend that there is some evidence to connect Cleveland with the lynching of Etherington. The evidence might tend to show that a negro named Montelle Waitha, recently convicted of manslaughter in this connection, mounted a stone and made a speech urging the crowd to do something, and that Cleveland made some remarks, such as 'Go to it, old boss.'"

"You're on the right track," that he was also one of a large crowd near the jail when the door was being battered in, but had nothing to do with it; that a ladder was brought and placed against a ledge above the door and that Cleveland climbed to this ledge and that a rope was brought which he fastened in some manner and reigned the crowd with gymnastic feats; that after the door was battered down, from this ledge Cleveland announced to the crowd outside the jail what progress was being made by those on the inside as they went from one door to another.

"This defendant is 26 years of age and never knew what the care of a father was, in fact, doesn't even know who his father was, as his mother had married soon after his death. He has been a sort of harum-scarum boy and not of ordinary mentality. But his mental condition is not such as to justify a legal defense of insanity. He is so constituted as to crave notoriety and when he had heard the discussions, saw the crowd gathered about the jail, the inflammatory speeches and shouts of the people, what he did was on account of the action of this excitement on his not overly strong mind."

"I do not want to make an extended plea for mercy, but will say that if it is possible, there should be some limit upon the excitement incident upon these recurring murder trials. I believe the action of your honor will have an effect toward accomplishing this desirable end."

Mr. Smythe made a statement telling the court that the state would have proven that Cleveland had a rope and made a statement that he had a rope to hang the state, and then officially announced the progress of the mob after it had gained an entrance to the jail.

Mr. Miller followed the prosecutor by saying that after Watha's speech Cleveland, with others, urged the attack on the jail. He said that the death of Etherington was not the principal element in this crime, and that the prosecutions were for the purpose of showing that never again in Ohio should there occur such an outrage on law and order.

J. Howard Jones stated that the state expected to prove its case by such witnesses as Hugu Hawkins, now in the reformatory; Charles Bagley, impeached in the McKinley trial, and some others. He urged that Cleveland's mentality was under a strain that caused even strong men to waver,

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Cure

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. This is partly due to the fact that it is slightly laxative, stimulates the appetite and has an excellent tonic effect. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Pinex is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualic and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

er, and asked for the leniency of the court in pronouncing sentence.

After asking Cleveland a few questions as to his early life and record, the court pronounced the sentence to the reformatory for an indefinite term, to which place he will be transferred as soon as possible by Sheriff Slabaugh.

STATEMENTS BY ATTORNEYS

FOR STATE AND DEFENDANT.

Prosecutor Phil B. Smythe and W. H. Miller, who represented the state, gave the following statement to the press this afternoon:

"We have no comment to make on the judgment because it is no part of the prosecutor's duty to interfere with a judge in fixing a penalty. The prosecutor's duty ends when they submit to a court or jury all the facts in a case."

"We have been importuned frequently to recommend to the court certain punishments, but have in each case refused to do so, for the reasons given above. In the cases of Timmons and Cleveland the pleas were entered without any understanding, agreement or promise on the part of the prosecutors as to the nature of the punishment to follow, or any consultation with the court respecting the penalties to be inflicted."

"In the case today the state was not apprised that a plea of guilty was to be entered until counsel made the proposition in open court, and we thought until this time that they would apply for a continuance."

J. Howard Jones and Roderic Jones, the young attorneys who brought about the desired consummation of their clients' prosecution, were naturally elated over what they rightly consider a virtual victory. They are receiving congratulations on their work from many sources. This statement was given this afternoon from their office:

"It is true that the prosecutors had nothing to do with the fixing of this morning's sentence, nor any of the others before pronounced, but we take it that it should be their duty to assist the counsel for the defense in taking these matters to the notice of the court for conference. We will say that the assistant attorney general, Miller, has been derelict in this regard and has thereby obstructed the prompt winding up of these lynching cases."

INDICTED MEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO CHARGE OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

The three men indicted by the last special grand jury were brought into court this afternoon and were arraigned before Judge C. W. Seward, who took the bench at 1:30 o'clock and read the charge of murder against James Marlow, who arose and said that he was a laborer of Zanesville and would plead without consulting his attorney.

The indictment was read and Marlow pleaded not guilty. Cleveland Priest, a laborer of this city, was next called. He had no means to employ counsel. Charles L. Flory was appointed to defend. He pleaded not guilty to the indictment as read.

Patrick Haycock, a Newark barber, had no counsel and Jesse A. Flory was appointed to defend. The indictment was read and Haycock pleaded not guilty.

The prisoners were then remanded to the sheriff and taken to the county jail.

LOAN EXHIBIT DRAWING LARGE CROWDS DAILY

The Library Loan Exhibit is the mecca for all lovers of the antique and curious this week, and the attendance is daily over-reaching the bounds of the most optimistic of expectations. The booths have been delightfully arranged, while the souvenirs are all labeled and placed in cabinets, making the inspection of every article easily accessible.

The opening day the attendance was rather light, but favored on Wednesday, the church being thronged with visitors during every hour, which is from 1 until 10 o'clock and every prospect is for a big financial success.

The proceeds will be turned over to the executive committee of the Library Loan Exhibit and immediate purchase will be made of things needed there, such as books, shelving and refitting in many instances.

As the days of the week are divided among the club members every effort is being put forth by the club women to make the exhibit a success. The Monday Talks are in charge today and the big feature of the afternoon at the display is the baby show. This evening a special musical program will be given.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Story of Echo

This Time Echo Answered Them

"MANY, many hundreds of years ago," began daddy's story one evening. "Folks believed that every tree and every rock and every fountain, and in fact, almost everything, had a spirit or a sort of fairy living in it. They made up many queer and interesting stories about these spirits or fairies. One of the most beautiful of these stories is the one about Echo, a spirit with the most beautiful voice in the world."

"It was said that Echo was a spirit which had done something to displease Queen Juno, the queen of all these spirits, so in order to punish poor Echo Queen Juno, who was very powerful, said:

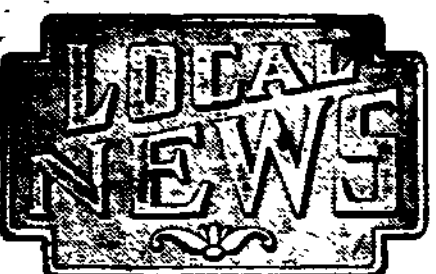

"You may keep your beautiful voice, but that is all you shall keep. The rest of you shall fade away, and to punish you further you shall never be able to speak to any one first, but shall be able to answer only when some one speaks to you."

"And so it really happened. Poor Echo became thinner and paler and faded away until there was nothing at all left of her but her beautiful voice. She became so ashamed that she hid herself in the mountains and among trees and rocks and in queer out of the way corners of buildings, so that no one ever saw her again. Only her sweet voice remained, and that was heard only when some one spoke to her first."

"If you call to Echo she will answer you. Try some day by calling out in the mountains when everything is still about you, 'Echo, Echo,' and in the distance you will hear faintly and sweetly, 'Echo, Echo.'"

"There is a very curious thing about Echo. If you speak to her sweetly, in a gentle tone, she will answer back in the same way. If you speak to her angrily she will reply angrily, but not as loudly as you do, for she is naturally gentle and sweet. If you shout at her she will shout back, and if you speak nicely to her she will be nice also. It is the same way with people."

"One day there were two boys who had heard that Echo lived on a hill near their home. They had never been that way to speak to her, so they went out to try it. At first when they called to Echo she did not reply to them, for you see, the wind was the wrong way and their voices were carried away instead of toward Echo. So, after trying for some time to get her to understand them and answer them, they became tired and started to go home. On their way they turned around to speak to Echo again, but this time they were on the other side of the hill, so that the wind blew from them to Echo. So when they called her she answered them, and they went home happy."

They contain as their main ingredient the most thorough, quick and effective blood cleaner known, calcium sulphide.

They are free from mercury, biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a ploschy face. Don't have strangers stare at you, or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your face makes you what you are. The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will make you happy because your face will be a welcome sight not only to yourself when you look into the glass, but to everybody else who knows you and talks with you.

Black Silk Stove Polish

It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine. Don't imagine all brands of stove polish are alike. Black Silk is different. It's so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It's in a class all by itself.

It makes a brilliant, glossy shine that appeals to the eye—don't rub or dust off. Give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove—your cook stove or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I have ever used. People say, 'where did you get your new stove,' and I tell them it's Black Silk Stove Polish that makes it look like new."

"I will not use any other kind when I can get Black Silk Stove Polish. It makes stoves look nice and stay nice longer than any other polish."

"Black Silk Stove Polish is by far the best I ever used. I have tried many different kinds but had none as good."

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I ever used. Several parties in this neighborhood are anxious to get some of your polish since they saw my stove after using it."

Ask your hardware and stove dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Costs you no more than the ordinary kind so why not have the best?

BOSTON GIRL

WHO CLAIMED TO BE DAUGHTER OF LUCKY BALDWIN, LOSER SUIT.

Failed To Establish Claim That There Ever Had Been Marriage Between Mother and Turfman.

Los Angeles, March 9.—The jury in the case of Beatrice Anita Baldwin Turnbull, a Boston girl, seeking a one-sixth share of the $11,000,000 estate of "Lucky" Baldwin, under instructions from the court, reached a verdict adverse to the claimant.

Eight days ago an argument on a motion to instruct the jury returned a verdict against the plaintiff began, and a few minutes before the noon recess yesterday, Attorney Garrett McEnery, of San Francisco, concluded. Only a momentary pause ensued before the judge announced his decision, blasting the hopes of the young claimant to the Baldwin millions.

Judge Rives delivered the following in his charge to the jury:

"After a careful consideration of the matter and an exhaustive examination, both as to the facts and as to the law, I have concluded that under the testimony in this case, there has been failure to establish a marriage, and, therefore, it becomes my duty as judge of this court, to so instruct you and direct you to find a verdict accordingly."

The jury returned a verdict: "That there never was a marriage either valid or null in law, or any marriage whatever between the mother of said Beatrice Anita Baldwin, otherwise known as Beatrice Anita Turnbull, and the said E. J. Baldwin, deceased. That Beatrice Anita Baldwin, otherwise known as Beatrice Anita Turnbull, is not a legitimate daughter or a legitimate child of Elias J. Baldwin, deceased."

The attorneys for the contestant noted an exception to the instructed verdict and answered that they would take an appeal direct to the supreme court.

CURIO EXHIBIT DRAWS CROWDS AT THE LOAN

The antique cameo was valued during the Middle Ages for its healing power. In Elizabethan times cameos were called agates, and many were among the gifts to her. A group of seven antique cameo brooches and a bracelet, an attractive exhibit at the loan, placed in a case of manuscripts, the variety in tint is to be noted. One is astonished at the size of the jewelry our great and great greats wore, the earrings and brooches, and the hair combs. What dignity their height must have loaned! What stories they could tell! The one that decorated the head of one of our ladies at a foreign court and those that did service in the select circles of New York's society.

Many choice buckles of silver found their way to the melting pot and came back in the shape of spoons. Among the rare things at the loan are several pieces of Sheffield plate. It was in 1740 that a Sheffield mechanic discovered that copper and silver could be fused in such a manner that the copper could be completely coated with the silver, and this mechanic's discovery transformed Sheffield from an insignificant town to a great commercial center. This was just as valuable as solid silver. Two pieces of Mandarin china, perhaps more (there is so much to see it will be impossible to appreciate it all in one week), one piece is a lovely bowl, the other a generous sized tea pot. A stem drinking glass with the date 1776 is a highly prized exhibit.

"What are these?" Cup plates. To set the cup on after the tea was poured in the saucer to drink. "Well! I thought they were too large for butter pads!" "Now, I've seen something else I never saw before."

What do the school boys like best? The guns and uniforms. One boy asked to see a powder horn, another a gun with a ram-rod and one with a bayonet and what a privilege to see General Sherman's sword and sash for the famous march to the sea, is freshly in their minds from recent history study and how they look with awe and admiration at the full dress uniform of General Ewing, worn when with General Grant at the surrender of Vicksburg. Then there are the bullet molds and these particular ones were used to prepare for the Squirrel Hunters guns, and there on the wall is a Squirrel Hunter's discharge, signed by Governor Todd.

There are few left to recall the days of the Newark Guards and how fortunate that there is one uniform complete and a photograph of them grouped on the north side of the square in military array.

Highly prized is the sword and sash of Leonidas McDougal, the captain of the first company to go out from Newark to the Civil War. Every boy goes through a period of wanting to be a soldier and they all look with admiration on the cadet uniform of David Cordray. Don't fail to see his true life drawing of a mounted horse. Do you know boys that soldiers must draw well.

AMUSEMENTS

The Cutter Stock Company.
The Cutter Stock Company gave a new and exceptionally clever dramatization of "St. Elmo" at the Auditorium theatre on Wednesday evening, and that the play is just as popular as the work of fiction of the same name, was attested by the audience.

Last night's play incorporates all the finer parts of the old romance, without the faintest suggestion of crowding, and tells the story well and without quibbling. A synopsis of the play is unnecessary, for everyone is well acquainted with the adventures of Elina Earle as they intermingle with those of St. Elmo Murray.

Miss Blanche White made a charming Edna Earle and carried her role with an unaffected directness and her dramatic work was at no time hysterical. Frederick Lyle, who has been carrying the heavy roles, made much of his character as St. Elmo, and was most capable. The supporting company was well assigned to the various roles and all carried them most effectively.

The Cutter Stock Company is a very clever organization and every member is most capable. One of the features of the week is the work of Arnold, who has charge of the specialties, doing 16 a week. He changes his act at every performance. This does not mean that he changes the song he sings, or something of that sort, but he has a distinctively new act. For instance, at one performance he appeared as a female impersonator, and at the same performance, between the next two acts, he did a heavy lifting act which was marvelous.

The company will present this evening an interesting bill, "Beyond the Border."

As Told in the Hills.
Nothing so entertaining and pleasing as Alex Story's "As Told in the Hills" has been seen in recent years. Although interesting and extremely thrilling at all times, the play is not one of the kind that depends on cheap sensationalism for its effect, and in the strong climaxes there are no absurd situations that in real life would be impossible. Clean and refreshing comedy is a prominent feature.

"As Told in the Hills" will be seen at the Auditorium theatre Thursday evening, March 16, at popular prices.

Madame Sherry at Last.
"Madame Sherry," with its merry quips that have had New York and Chicago laughing and the magic lights that have already become popular here, is coming on Thursday, March 20, for one performance only at the Auditorium theatre.

"Madame Sherry" is a French vaudeville which captivated Paris

Take A Hand At It Yourself

Practical painters prefer Spartan Stain and use it with best results.

But Spartan Stain was made for popular use. You can apply it as you buy it. It works easily, flows evenly, sets slowly, dries quickly. Does not lap. Its colors—and there are a score of them—are clear, transparent, inspiring to look at.

Spartan Stain is a varnish stain occupying a unique place in the wood finish field. It is a "Marietta" product and "Marietta" is a name to conjure with among people who know. It is not egotism, but simple truth, to say that our reputation in the wood finish field is best among those who are best informed. Ask any large furniture manufacturer about Marietta stains. He will tell you we have specialized for years on wood finishes; that our products are first of all practical; that to meet the exacting demands of furniture makers, they must have highest quality; that they are noted for the gray matter that goes into them.

Spartan Stain is not half so easily demonstrated on paper as it is on wood. It works equally well on old work or new. For reviving and beautifying old floors, doors and furniture and wood work it has no equal.

GRANVILLE

Granville, March 9.—During the past several years a large number of men from Granville and vicinity have sought and obtained employment in Newark, many of them leaving the farm to go to the city. They had understood that large wages could be secured there and elsewhere, and were fascinated by what looked to them a larger income than could ever be secured on the farm. They have discovered, however, that when they left the farm they also left behind them the free house rent, with a garden, poultry yard and pig pen, which made the cost of living a comparatively small matter, and that out of the big wages they were obliged to pay for everything they are and more. Back-to-the-farm seems to be the slogan just now and many of the young men who have been living in the city will be found back on the old farm this spring.

Owners of maple groves in this vicinity have been having a very good maple sugar season, much better than last year, which was not up to the average. In the tapping of maples more improved methods are employed each year and a most excellent syrup is now produced which finds a ready market from 50 cents to $1 per gallon.

Every town of any consequence now has an organization of business men to look after the interests of the town. Wouldn't it be a good idea to have an organization of farmers in Granville? Get together and elect a town.

The greatest crisis in a woman's life is when first she becomes a mother. All the physical strength of her nature is demanded at such times, and it is necessary that her system be thoroughly prepared for the event, in order that her health be preserved for future years. Mother's Friend is woman's safest reliance; it is a medicine for external use, composed of oils and other ingredients which assist nature in all necessary physical changes of the system. Its regular use before the coming of baby prepares the muscles and tendons for the unusual strain, aids in expanding the skin and flesh fibres, and strengthens all the membranes and tissues. IRON TRADE REVIEW
Cleveland, O., March 9.—The Iron Trade Review today says:

The iron and steel market during the past week has been somewhat better than for the corresponding period in February. Prices are firm; speculation continues to come in in a satisfactory manner and a fair volume of business has been booked, but buyers generally have become more cautious in closing for their future requirements, due partly to the fact that no cancellations have been made by the railroads and buying of steel materials by transportation companies at present is heavier than at any time this year. There has also been some buying of steel bridge material for railroads. In well informed circles it is believed that the trading and decision will not have a serious effect upon market conditions and late developments indicate that the iron trade will make a very good showing this month.

The second advance of $1 a ton in prices of wire products so far this year became effective with the close of business on March 4, and the manufacturers are limiting contracts at the present prices for delivery within 60 days. Fairly heavy buying of spikes at $1.60, Pittsburgh, for second quarter delivery is noted, which represents an advance of $1 a ton, as the $1.55 quotation will be withdrawn at the end of this month.

A Fierce Night Alarm is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it arouses Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote, "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds, or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, la grippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 34c and $1. Trial bottle free. Sold by F. D. Hall.

Torpedo Runabout $725Consider What FORD Service to FORD Owners Means

From the beginning Henry Ford has made it a vital factor in his great organization to take care of the owners of FORD Cars, with the result that FORD Service for FORD Owners is the most complete service organization, so far as motor cars are concerned, in the world.

It is made a salient feature in all contracts with FORD dealers, from the largest to the smallest, that each dealer must at all times carry an adequate supply of FORD parts entirely for the benefit of FORD owners. So it matters not in what part of the world you may be (in this country you can scarcely drive 50 miles in any direction without meeting a FORD dealer; in foreign countries they are not so thick), you are bound to have the continual service of your car without annoying delays for want of parts. FORD Cars rarely need repairs, but accidents will happen to owners of FORD Model T Cars as well as to other people, and when such accidents occur think how comforting it is to know that you can speedily repair your car without loss of time and at minimum expense. Each FORD owner when he buys a car is supplied with an Individual Parts Price List, and he is thus safeguarded as to cost, while so simple in design and construction are FORD Model T Cars that any ordinary mechanic can make safe repairs.

To insure the utmost in service for FORD Owners we have erected large storehouses, one in Kansas City, one in Long Island City, New York, and one in Cambridge, Mass., that FORD dealers may be quickly supplied with parts, all for the benefit of FORD Owners. No other manufacturer of motor cars has such an extensive, thorough and efficient service department.

You see how the FORD Motor Co. answers the question, "After I buy my car, then what?" It has all been thought out for you, all prepared in advance that the owner of a FORD Model T may really enjoy the utmost use, the most complete satisfaction, that any motor car can give to its owner.

"High-priced quality in a low-priced car," made possible by reason of our tremendous manufacturing facilities. With the most complete factory in all the world, equipped with labor-saving, time-saving, exact and efficient machinery, with unlimited financial resources which command the lowest prices in the market of raw materials, and with the guiding genius of Henry Ford in control, and built all around this a most effective selling organization (more than 3,000 dealers in the United States alone), the owner of a FORD Model T is sure of everything within reason that a motor car can give.

But come to our garage, 61 S. Third Street, and see for yourself this famous car; examine, compare, ask the salesman to point out the different features of supremacy. Let him tell you of its light weight and what it means, the Vanadium steel construction and the giant strength it gives. Let him show you its simplicity of control, its ease of operation and point out the positive economy of maintenance.

LINCOLN FUNERAL

Spokane, Wash., March 9.—Sole survivor of the soldier escort at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., is A. E. Robinson, a resident of Spokane, who enlisted in the Fourteenth regiment of Iowa Volunteers on February 1, 1864, at the age of 16 years and served until the close of the war. He is in good health and vigorous and is interested in civic and industrial affairs.

Born in Albion, N. Y., on May 17, 1847, he moved with his parents to the middle west. He enlisted in Iowa and joined the Fourteenth regiment of volunteers of that state at Vicksburg, on March 20, 1864, serving a year under Major A. J. Smith in the South and six months in Camp Butler at Springfield.

Mr. Robinson participated in the battle of Fort Derrisa and marched with the forces to Alexandria, thence to Pleasant Hill, La., where they met defeat at the hands of Johnston at the battle of Sabine Cross Roads. Returning, they were again pursued and engaged in a running fight to the mouth of the Red River.

"We were then transported to Arkansas to drive the Southerners from the banks of the Mississippi river, where navigation was blocked," Mr. Robinson said in recounting his experience. "We had a short battle and were then sent to St. Louis, and afterward scattered Forrest's forces when they attempted to capture the arsenal of Pilot Knob and St. Louis."

"Soon after the regiment's time expired and the veterans and recruits were mustered into a battalion and sent to Springfield, Ill., where I was detailed as an escort at President Lincoln's funeral, and continued in Camp Butler until the close of the war."

The Penny Very Exact.

There is probably not a more exacting corporation in the world than the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, when it comes to passing judgment on the merits of men who apply for positions. The system of the road is so perfect that it seems to know all about its employees. An applicant for a position has his record scanned as thoroughly as if he were placed under a microscope. It is harder for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a young man who drinks intoxicants to have his claims for a position even considered by the Pennsylvania Company. If the applicant is only a moderate drinker, that fact puts him out of the reckoning. In fact, none but sober men need apply

CRAWFORD SALE

One of the largest attended and best horse sales ever held by Col. Geo. W. Crawford at his splendid Sharon Valley farm, was held on Wednesday, when about 60 head of fine Percheron and Belgian stallions and mares were sold. Buyers were present from the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Indiana and Michigan and bidding was quite brisk. One large Belgian stallion, weighing 2200 pounds, was sold to Mr. George C. Huffman of Lancaster, O., for $2500. Another Belgian stallion was sold to a Somerset, O., man for $1900. The mares brought from $500 to $700. The colonel says it was the finest sale he has ever had and that is going some. A fine lunch was served in the big barn at the noon hour.
